

SUPERVISORS APPROVE REPORT

SAN MATEO BOARD ENDORSES HIGHWAY-BRIDGE PROJECT ON SAME DAY IT IS TURNED DOWN IN SAN FRANCISCO.

On the same day that the San Francisco supervisors defeated the proposed endorsement of the highway-bridge district and shortly prior to that action, the San Mateo county supervisors passed a resolution approving the recommendations of the district directors that the bridge and highway be constructed as one project at a cost of $7,000,000. This endorsement was given by a vote of 4 to 1, Supervisor Mrs. R. Brown being the only supervisor to vote against such endorsement. Mrs. Brown voiced her stand in the matter, saying she approved heartily of the highway but considered that preference should be given to the Webb plan of a bridge at Coyote Point. Following the vote the board sent a telegram telling of its action to the San Francisco board.

The board ordered fourteen $1000 bonds of the Burlingame school district sold to Bradford, Kimball & Co. of San Francisco, their offer being par, accrued interest and a premium of $483.79.

The monthly statement of P. P. Chamberlain, county treasurer, showed the sum of $1,197,476.91 to be on hand in the county treasury. Reports were also received from the county meat inspector and license collector, and were ordered filed.

Applications for the position of engineer at the new Community Hospital were received from K. W. Herford of Palo Alto and H. N. Wallden of San Mateo, and were ordered filed for future reference.

The bid of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company for street lighting in Visitation was accepted. The company offered to provide fifteen 100 candle-power lights at a charge of $2.36 per month each, plus a surcharge of 6 per cent.

A deed to a 40-foot strip of land in Runnymede, being an extension of University avenue, signed by a number of property owners, was accepted by the county on motion of Supervisor MacBain, seconded by Supervisor Brown.

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Nash, county clerk, was authorized to employ extra help to complete the old road indexes of the county.

On motion of Supervisor Thomas Hickey, Attorney Joseph J. Bullock was authorized to sell the Buick coupe belonging to John Swanson, the proceeds to be turned over to Mrs. James Bolt in accordance with the recent order of Judge George H. Buck.

County Purchasing Agent E. H. Werder was authorized by the board to purchase a four-cylinder Buick car for the use of the County Social Service Commission on motion of Supervisor Hickey, seconded by Supervisor Brown.

Following the approval of a number of claims left over from last week's meeting, the board adjourned to December 4th.

SCIOIS TO GIVE TURKEY PRIZES AT CARD PARTY

The members of San Mateo Pyramid of Sciois, who come from all over San Mateo county, are planning a dance and card party for Saturday evening of this week. The affair will be held at Masonic Temple in San Mateo and will be for the benefit of the Sciois' Christmas tree fund. One of the largest crowds that ever assembled in Masonic Hall is expected to be in attendance.

LOMITA PARK P-T. A. HONORS MRS. GRAHAM

A farewell party was given Thursday evening of last week by the members of the Lomita Park Parent-Teachers' Association and of the Guild Club honoring Mrs. William Graham. Mrs. Graham leaves Friday for Oakland to make her home.

J. W. PITT NAMED AS CITY TRUSTEE

Pitt Appointed to Succeed L. G. Hardy
Who Resigns; Sidewalks to Be Laid in Three Sections.

The resignation of L. G. Hardy as a city trustee and the appointment of J. W. Pitt as his successor were among the most noteworthy matters coming before the city board at Monday evening's meeting of the city council. Mr. Hardy's resignation was made imperative by his recent appointment to the office of postmaster of this city. The duties of this office are such that Mr. Hardy found it impossible to hold both positions. A communication conveying his resignation was read by City Clerk McSweeney and accepted by the board. In accepting it Chairman G. W. Holston took occasion to express the regret of the other board members at losing Mr. Hardy as a fellow-official and paid tribute to Mr. Hardy's ability and the services he had rendered. Mr. Pitt's name was then placed in nomination as an appointee to fill Mr. Hardy's unexpired term, and Mr. Pitt was appointed without a dissenting vote. Mr. Hardy asked that his resignation be accepted to take place the end of November.

Sidewalks on Swift avenue, Grand avenue extension, and on Linden avenue in the north part of town may become realities in the near future. Walks for Swift avenue and Grand avenue extension have been the subject for discussion several times at board meetings of late. A letter from the school trustees read at Monday evening's meeting asked that sidewalks be laid along Linden avenue between the Martin school and Peck's Lots for the convenience of school children, who are at present forced to walk on the highway during wet weather, to the imminent danger of their lives. The matter was referred to the city engineer for a report as to cost. It is probable that proceedings for sidewalks in the three districts may be started before long.

The application of Francis Drake Lodge, F. and A. M., for permission to hold a dance the evening of November 25th was granted, as was the

MARTIN SCHOOL

The Newest Addition to the School System of this City Which Was Dedicated with Exercises Last Friday Evening.

MARTIN SCHOOL FORMALLY DEDICATED

Exercises Take Place Friday Evening at New Northend Building.

The dedication of the Martin school last Friday evening drew a gathering that completely packed the large hall and corridor of the new building.

The exercises consisted of a musical play, called "The Three Bears," given by the pupils of the school under the direction of Miss Mary McAuliffe and Miss Grace Carleton. The performance was of exceptional merit and drew much applause from the spectators and many comments as to the careful training the children had evidently received. The children who took part with their parts were as follows:

Goldilocks Lurline Lewis
Father Bear John Arrijoni
Mother Bear Ethel Bernardo
Baby Bear Premo Bazzani
Fairies—Frances Reichel, Helen Reichel, Helen McCleod, Belmeda Monize, Rose Genovesi, Rose Steele, Alice Bruno, Catherine Olsen, Celia Penna, Lea Capitelli, Catherine Martinelli, Alma Lombardi, Elsie Neves, Auria Vasquez and Lucille McNellis.
Brownies—Erick Reichel, Donald Castro, Luther Wilkinson, Joseph Gantenhein, Alfred Lema, Harold Stevenson, Joseph Bildhauer, Premo Venturini, Danny Carli and Ralph Neve.

The Martin primary school is a modern school building with excellent class rooms and possesses a large assemblage hall with a regular theater stage.

Superintendent Adams following the school program stated that the Martin school, although in use only two months and supposedly ample to meet all requirements for some time to come, already had proven inadequate, and provision must be made at once for its enlargement to meet the demands of this rapidly growing community.

Mr. Adams said that the Martin school was named in honor of W. J. Martin, who had successfully pioneered and piloted this community to its present stage of development, a city of most excellent parts and some 6000 inhabitants, that the honor conferred was the highest gift which any community could bestow on any of its citizens.

W. J. Martin, in responding to Mr. Adams' introduction, expressed his high appreciation of the honor given him and pointed to the fact that in the chain of educational institutions, primary, grammar, technical, high and college, the primary was the most important. "Here the soil is most delicate. In the primary school the sterling qualities of manhood and womanhood first take root, and as the twig is bent the tree is inclined. The old adage, 'Take care of the pennies and the dollars will take care of themselves,' has here a counterpart, take care of the primary school and the manhood and the womanhood of the nation is assured." Mr. Martin, on the question of pioneering, admitted his first activities in 1890, when he had employed eighteen agents in the first lot selling in South San Francisco, only two of whom are alive today, C. F. Crouse of Ohio and

REDWOOD TO BUILD ITS OWN BRIDGE

County Seat Chamber Calls Meeting to Discuss Plan for Financing.

That Redwood City does not propose to be put off the direct line of travel between interior California points and San Francisco, as there seems a prospect of its being should the Coyote Point bridge be constructed, was evidenced this week when R. H. K. Smith, secretary of the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce, announced that a bridge at Dumbarton may be constructed by private capital. This announcement followed the action of the San Francisco board of supervisors when at their meeting Monday they refused to agree that their city would help finance the joint highway and bridge project.

Smith has called a mass meeting of citizens of San Mateo county, southern Alameda county and northern Santa Clara county in Redwood City on Saturday afternoon, December 2d, when plans for financing the Dumbarton bridge with private capital will be discussed.

According to Smith, the bridge at Dumbarton Point can be constructed at an approximate cost of $1,500,000. This figure was supplied several months ago by an Eastern engineering concern interested in the project by Smith and his associates.

At the mass meeting on December 2d, Smith will propose a plan whereby a corporation of private citizens will acquire the right of way and franchise for a bridge at Dumbarton Point from the San Mateo county board of supervisors.

The franchise for the bridge will contain a proviso arranging for the return of the bridge in thirty years to the state. Money for the retirement of construction bonds and maintenance of the bridge will be raised through toll charge on vehicles passing over the bridge.

Sentiment in San Mateo county, particularly in Redwood City and the southern section of the county, is strong against the action taken Monday by the San Francisco supervisors in rejecting the Eastside highway and Dumbarton bridge proposal of the joint highway district board of commissioners.

The fellow who angles for the good opinion of his neighbors generally shows himself up for what he is and gets what he deserves.

Judge E. E. Cunningham, who was present. He also stated that of the original directorate of the South San Francisco Land Company only one was alive today, E. R. Lillenthal of San Francisco.

One of the features of the occasion was the presence of Helen Basset Johnstone, who was W. J. Martin's school teacher sixty years ago in Galesburg, Ill., when Mr. Martin first entered primary school.

Judge E. E. Cunningham in a few well-chosen words closed the evening's program.

S. F. BD. TURNS DOWN HIGHWAY-BRIDGE

City Governing Body Feels Expense
Too Great; Webb Bridge Project
Causes Joint Plan's Defeat.

A decisive defeat of the Eastside highway and transbay bridge project in its present form was the result of the meeting on the proposition held by the San Francisco board of supervisors Monday. The report of the directors of the joint district formed to construct the highway and bridge was presented to San Francisco's governing body, this report calling for an expenditure of $7,000,000, of which San Francisco's share was tentatively fixed at $6,600,000 and San Mateo county's at $400,000. The location of the bridge was set forth as near Redwood City.

The cause of the defeat of the project in San Francisco is felt to be largely the so-called "Webb plan" for a bridge to be constructed from Coyote Point to Alvarado. As Webb

UNIDENTIFIED MAN KILLED AT SAN BRUNO

Another Name Added to Long List of Deaths at Railroad Crossing.

The long list of fatalities at San Bruno railroad crossing had another name added Sunday morning when a man who has not yet been identified was killed by a southbound San Mateo electric car. According to the testimony of Motorman W. Deere of 16 Herald avenue, San Francisco, the man stepped directly on the tracks ahead of the slowly moving car after looking up and apparently seeing it approaching.

Motorman Deere and Conductor Chester Jones of Daly City testified at the inquest held Tuesday at S. Neri's undertaking parlors. Both stated the car was moving slowly, having stopped at a station a short distance back and being about to stop at the San Bruno station close ahead. Both stated the whistle was sounded as the car approached the crossing, and the motorman declared the man looked up as though he heard the whistle and saw the car. The gates were down, the dead man walking around them and stepping on the track.

The man was roughly dressed in overalls and work clothing. He was apparently about 50 years of age. His pockets contained slightly over $2 in change, but nothing that could in any way identify him.

The front trucks of the car passed over the unfortunate man's body, but it was necessary to summon a wrecking car from San Francisco before the body could be extricated from the rear trucks.

NOS. 2906, 1930 AND 205 ARE WINNERS

LARGE AUDIENCE SEES LUCKY
NUMBERS DRAWN AT ROYAL
THEATER; MERCHANTS MEET AT CITY HALL AFTERWARD.

"Who are the fortunate holders of the prize-winning numbers in the Merchants' Association drawing?" That is getting to be one of the most frequently heard questions each week in South San Francisco. Mrs. Jones meets Mrs. Brown on the street corner, and the first words uttered are: "Did you get one of the prizes this week?" Mr. Smith calls Mr. Simpson over the phone Thursday morning to talk over a business deal, and the first words he speaks are likely to be: "Have you heard who won the Merchants' Association prizes last night?" Tommy Sampson meets Jim Baxter on the way to school Thursday morning and shouts: "Oh, Jimmie, my ma won a prize at the theater last night!" and Jimmie turns green with envy because such fame and good fortune did not fall to a member of his family.

All of which is mere preamble and introduction. The main part of the story is the important news that W. J. Greene, Norma Vannucci and Natie Puchetti are the lucky ones this week. W. J. Greene won the $5 worth of merchandise orders with ticket number 2906; Norma Vannucci was only a little less fortunate, capturing the $3 prize with number 205, while Natie Puchetti won the $2 prize with number 1930. There was a large crowd at the theater to witness the drawing, which was conducted by Angelo Scampini.

After the drawing of the prizes the members of the Merchants' Association held their semi-weekly meeting at the city hall. There was a large turnout and considerable routine business was transacted. The members present were enthusiastic in their remarks about the success of the prize giving campaign. Already it is being suggested that the campaign be continued after the holiday season, and if the demand for it be great enough it may be so ordered.

ATTEMPT MADE TO BREAK INTO MAGER HOME ON MILLER

What was apparently an attempt to break into and probably burglarize the home of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Mager on Miller avenue occurred last Friday evening. That entrance was not made is undoubtedly due to the fact that the miscreants were discovered and frightened away by the Boyle family living next door.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyle were returning to their home at about 10 o'clock Friday evening when they saw a man crouched by the side of the Mager house. Seeing himself discovered, the man disappeared in the shadows. Mr. and Mrs. Boyle telephoned for Night Watchman McGraw. After the officer's arrival on the scene the footprints of a man and a woman were discovered around the Mager home. The window sill bore marks of where an instrument, seemingly a chisel, had been used in an attempt to pry up the windows. No clues as to the identity of the would-be robbers were found.

MRS. I. H. LEONARD OF THIS CITY HONORED BY GOVERNOR

To Mrs. I. H. Leonard of this city has fallen the signal honor of an appointment by Governor William D. Stephens as trustee of the state schools. As there are only a small number of these trustees chosen from different districts of the state, it is most noteworthy that a South San Francisco woman should receive such an appointment. Mrs. Leonard lives at 311 California avenue and is well known in social and fraternal circles. She is an accomplished musician and has been heard in piano recitals at many social functions in different peninsula towns.

CIRCUS COMING

Hep! Hep! Hurrah! Circus coming to town, or stating it more accurately, I should say one is in the process of being formed so as to appear at the South San Francisco high school on Saturday evening, December 16th.

The circus is an annual affair given by the high school students each year in order to increase the financial standing of the student body organization of the students.

In past years these circuses presented by the students of the high school have been great successes, gaining for the school a name in amateur theatricals. But this year, made so by the increase of pupils in the school and of a goodly array of talent which is to be had, we hope to present to the public one of the most entertaining functions that the high school has ever given.

Just yet our plans for the circus are just being formed, and as nothing definite is known as to the program we will be unable to divulge any conceptions of what the circus will be like in this week's "Blue and White," but any one who is interested may read in the later editions something of the nature of this circus, which I guarantee will so interest the reader that he will surely be there the night of the circus.

AWARDS IN TYPEWRITING

An Underwood typewriting contest was held in October, and the following students were awarded initial certificates and bronze medals. Students writing from 30 to 39 words a minute received certificates and students writing 40 words per minute received bronze medals:

Bronze medals—Mabel Costa, Evelyn Enderlin, Beatrice Farrell, Eleanor Hynding, Walter Welte.

Initial certificates—Ernest Bonalanza, Bnes Baldini.

The average typewriting student at the end of ten weeks writes approximately 10 words per minute, but in a recent typewriting contest Alexis James exceeded this record by writing 24 words per minute, which is considered remarkable progress for a beginner.

SAN MATEO VS. S. S. F.

On Wednesday the San Mateo girls' basketball teams (unlimited and 125-pound) played our girls on the local court. The 125-pound teams played first and San Mateo took the honors, the score being 22 to 14.

The second game was played by the unlimited teams, and S. S. F. was so furious at the idea of losing the first game that they played harder than ever and were rewarded by a 24 to 9 score in favor of S. S. F.

Thursday the S. S. F. hockey girls again played San Mateo. Although our girls played hard, they lost. The score was 3 to 1.

In the first quarter it was a scoreless game, which showed that our girls tried hard to win.

SOUTH CITY VS. SAN JOSE

The South City hockey team traveled to San Jose Friday, November 17th, to play its second league game. The game was called at 3:30. From the side line swere many hockey fans of San Jose. The game was played so hard by both sides that there were quite a few casualties. Mary Wallace of the South City team was badly bruised on the knee as a result of falling over one of the sticks of a San Jose player. Mabel Costa was so exhausted by hard playing near the end of the second quarter that she fainted. There were minor casualties, such as getting hit on the finger with a stick. There was one person slightly hurt on the San Jose team. The South City team would have made a better showing without its casualties. The game ended with a score of 6-0 in favor of San Jose. The San Jose team then gave the South City team a wonderful feed.

SAN JOSE VS. SO. S. F.

The boys' football team traveled to San Jose to meet the high school team there. The S. S. F. team members fought hard, but were sadly outweighed by their opponents.

The game was halted several times to allow San Jose to make substitutions.

The final score was 32-6 in favor of San Jose.

The score does not indicate the real spirit with which our tea fought.

GIRLS' BLOCK LETTER SOCIETY

A meeting of the Girls' Block Letter Society was held November 15th. It was decided at this meeting that all girls belonging to the society that had block letters on their sweaters should not loan them to any other girl not belonging to the society.

Miss Clifford suggested that we always show true sportsmanship to every team we play.

GROUSE MAKES HEARTY MEAL

Two Thousand Rose Beetles in One Day Said to Be Not a Menu Beyond Her Capacity.

Two thousand rose beetles in one day were on the menu of a hen grouse which was experimented with at Clark university at Worcester, Mass., and which Prof. Hugh Findlay told about in a lecture on "Useful Birds in Our Gardens and Orchards," given recently at the New York Botanical gardens, Bronx park. Professor Findlay, who is horticulturist in the department of agriculture at Columbia university, has spent several years in central New York and the New England states studying the habits of birds during the nesting season.

He has photographed some 200 birds in their natural haunts, and from these photographs has developed slides which he has colored with Japanese transparent dyes. The birds range from the tiny humming bird to the great eagles photographed near Oneida lake. In his lecture, Professor Findlay showed some of our most destructive insects and their particular bird foes, showing plainly which species help to keep our plants, and trees from being destroyed by insect foes.

The hen grouse, who was proved to have made away with 2,000 rose beetles in one day, he used as an illustration of the economic value of some birds in the destruction of insect pests.

WHERE ALL SPEED IS ALIKE

Light, Electricity, X-Rays, and Magnetic Storms Declared to Move with Equal Velocity.

That in the radium rays we have an indication of a new and mysterious world of energy, we find what seems an impressive testimony in the law of velocity governing these in common with other recently discovered phenomena. "One definite thing we do know," says Professor Soddy, writing of the ether, "namely, the velocity at which influences are transmitted. It is 185,000 miles per second, the speed of light. So far as we yet know, all influences that are transmitted by the ether travel at this one definite velocity. Not only light, but also the electro-magnetic radiations employed in wireless telegraphy, the magnetic storms, as they are termed, which reach us from the sun, and also as we believe, the X-rays, travel through the ether at this one definite speed." That speed is in all these cases the same is suggestive of a common source and fountain head, and one is emboldened in the supposition that behind and within the material system with which we are familiar is a subtle and infinitely marvelous world from which the universe we know is fed and sustained, and which uses the light—swift undulations of the ether—as the carrying agent of its varied influences.—Charles Kassel in the North American Review.

Tool Straightens Nails.

Even bent wire nails are being salvaged from the waste piles in Germany and restored to usefulness by means of an ingenious nail straightener that may be fastened to the workbench. The device is described in the Popular Science Monthly.

Hinged to one end of the cast iron base is a long lever with a handle. A few inches from the fulcrum of the lever an iron rod is hinged, and to this is attached a claw which grips the head of the nail to be straightened. The nail is placed with its head in the slot of the claw and with its body between the jaws of a straightening die which is operated by a lever. The jaws firmly grip the body of the nail, and when the long lever is drawn back the nail is pulled through the eye of the die and effectively straightened.

Indian Has Remarkable Memory.

The most retentive memory in America is said to belong to a native Indian of the Yakima tribe. His brain cells register everything he sees or hears.

During the war he served with the army in France, and was of much value in carrying long messages, observing positions, or checking supplies, according to an Indian bureau report. When he was in camp he could call off a regimental roster and catalogue every item of equipment without any note or memorandum. On one occasion, after making a full report of observations to the extent of a thousand items or more, he repeated the full text of a lecture he had heard the night before. This was in the presence of the lecturer himself and was pronounced perfect.

Boy Found Treasure Trove.

A kettle of gold has been found on a mountain by a French schoolboy who left Chambery intending to ascend Mount Blanc. He had no guide and no food, and did not even carry the traditional alpenstock. After half an hour's climbing he came across a kettle. Looking into it he found 165 gold pieces dated 1199 and bearing the arms of the house of Savoy. Immediately the young would-be mountaineer abandoned his projected climb and took his find to the police.

New Arrangement.

He was a contractor and after building nine houses on the same plan, blue prints were of no consequence to him. The tenth house was well under way before he gave much attention to the details. He surveyed the structure and was astonished to find that a fireplace had been built in the kitchen. His other houses had all faced the west. This one faced the east.

SAN BRUNO

PALS OF MERCURY CAPTURE CHAMPIONSHIP

The San Bruno Football League season was brought to a close Sunday when the Pals of Mercury were proclaimed the champions on their defeat of the Woodmen by an 18-0 score.

This, the last game of the season, was adjudged the best of the series of six games by the fans who witnessed the contest, and there were several reasons why it, theoretically at least, should have been the best: First, because the teams had the advantage of practice and games behind them, and thus uncorked a better brand of football; second, because the defeat of the P. O. M. by the Woodmen would have meant a tie for first place, and the Woodmen's only chance for the championship and the trophy, a beautiful cup, and last but not least, the Woodmen were out to break the P. O. M. record of no touchdowns scored against them.

The game brought forth plenty of aerial work from both sides, well mingled with end runs, line bucks and criss-cross plays. During the first quarter was the only time the P. O. M. goal was menaced.

Too much credit cannot be given the P. O. M. team, especially as the line held and was able to pierce the Woodmen's team. Their decisive victories over the W. O. W. and Y. M. I. can be attributed to the splendid fighting spirit and team work of the players. Individual brilliant plays were made possible only through the wonderful interference given to them.

The team members were as follows: Center, C. Hultberg; guards, W. McLeod and E. Carlson; tackles, A. Magnuson and F. Krilman; ends, Ed Flynn and N. Fields; quarterback, H. Beckner; left half, Ernest Bohm; right half, Bob Fields; fullback and captain, Ted Anderson. Emil Bohm was the only substitute during the season.

The P. O. M. victories and scores were as follows:

P. O. M. vs. Y. M. I., 12-0; P. O. M. vs. W. O. W., 12-0; P. O. M. vs. Y. M. I., 51-0; P. O. M. vs. W. O. W., 18-0, which gives the champions a total of 93 points to their opponents' "goose-eggs," and the team rightly deserves all the glory and honor becoming unto champions.

The two other games were victories for the W. O. W. over the Y. M. I. scores 8-2 and 27-0.

Two serious injuries occurred during the season, when Paul Ledwith broke his elbow and Fred Beltramo broke his ankle. The injuries of Beltramo and W. Griffin, who wrenched his knee, put the Y. M. I. team in hard running.

The basket-ball season will now be ushered in, and San Bruno hopes to have four competing teams, which will play for another cup, while the P. O. M. will cherish and glory in the football cup through the coming year.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

John Eng last week became a new resident of San Bruno, locating in Fourth Addition.

Mrs. Aug. Lund has returned to her home in First Addition after an extended visit with her sister in the city.

Mrs. J. Anderson of Fourth Addition is again in San Francisco on a several weeks' sojourn with her sister.

Mrs. Deutschmann, formerly of Fourth Addition but more recently a resident of San Francisco, has again removed to our midst.

Mrs. J. T. O'Connor, "First Lady" of San Bruno, who was on the way to recovery from her long siege of illness, is reported quite sick again.

R. H. M. Rathke, after a stay of two months beyond the mountains, has again returned to his first love, California. Last week he was in our midst calling on a number of his friends.

Mrs. Al Lo Reaux of San Bruno proper was kept busy the past few weeks traveling back and forth to San Francisco and San Mateo, respectively, visiting with her two sick daughters.

San Bruno may have five basketball teams during the coming season, with the entrance of the Blue Bird Club team. The Woodmen, Yeomen, Y. M. I. and Pals of Mercury constitute the other four teams.

Mrs. E. G. Daneri and daughter-in-law, Mrs. M. Daneri, much improved in health, were able to return to San Bruno this week from the French Hospital in San Francisco, where both have been seriously ill for some time past.

Action is now under way toward the building of an outdoor wooden basket-ball court if plans whereby the city will help finance the project are carried through. The city officials appreciate the benefits and advertising that the past athletic performances have given the city.

Wednesday evening of next week at the "N. D." Hall the ladies of St. James Society will stage a grand whist party for the benefit of St. Bruno's Church. Turkeys will be offered as door prizes, besides the twenty playing prizes.

On Monday evening at 7 o'clock, after a long illness, Mrs. Cecile Buffet of Millbrae, better known as Indian Mary, the last of the aborigines in this part of the state, passed away at the age of 67 years. Interment was at Holy Cross Cemetery Thursday morning.

Thomas McLean, one of our old settlers and highly respected citizens, after a long spell of sickness passed away at his home in Third Addition Tuesday night. He is survived by his widow, a stepson, Alfred Dittman, and a nephew, Jack McLean, here in San Bruno, besides other relatives living in other places.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dunlap, our "newlyweds," were given a shower at their home in Huntington Park by a number of their most intimate friends last Saturday evening. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Mike Martinelli, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Valentine, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Madden, Miss Anderson, Mrs. Madden Sr., Gus McCracken and Miss Biggins.

Thomas Wiedemann, who has been spending several months here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Wiedemann of Jenevein Addition, departed this week for Santa Barbara to temporarily take charge of a large weekly publication there. Mr. Wiedemann is an old hand at the newspaper game, having spent upward of twenty years in that line of business in and about Vancouver and Seattle. 1) "A Fool and His Money Soon Parteth." There is only one sure way to success and independence, and that is through systematically saving a part of what we earn.

No matter what your problem may be, go into the Bank of South San Francisco and talk it over with the officers. You will be assured of courteous, sympathetic service. Bank problems are not always understood by the average individual. It is their business to help you in just such matters.

You may want to buy a home, go into business for yourself, invest your savings, send money abroad, close a business deal. Whatever your problem is, others have solved it before. Who are the officers of the bank? Give five reasons why you should deposit your money in the Bank of South San Francisco.

(2) "Let's go to the movies!" This exclamation often shakes away gloom and dullness and you gladly join the happy crowd, for you know that you are going to see a regular show. By "movies" the people of South San Francisco mean the ROYAL THEATER, located on Linden Avenue. They know that at this playhouse they will see the best screen offerings that the city can afford. When a theater day in and day out gives the people the best ease and comforts tried nerves, it is only reasonable to expect that in return that the theater will always be well filled. To those who have not yet had the pleasure of an entertainment at this theatre our suggestion is: Try it once, and after that it will be an easy dose to repeat. The manager of this establishment is genial, easy-going and to know, alert and on the lookout for the latest and for the best to offer his patrons. He feels he has a duty to fulfill to the people of South San Francisco, and he is mighty sincere in fulfilling it. Who is the manager, and what is the seating capacity? What is the make of the organ in the Royal Theater?

When receptions, weddings or birthday parties are given, it is always a source of worry to know just where to get the kind of cake that you want and know that you can depend on the bakery. The QUALITY BAKERY makes a specialty of fine cakes and they will make one for you. Just name the occasion and the cake will be appropriate. Name the age of the person receiving the party and your labors are finished. However, in addition to fine cakes, this bakery also makes all kinds of cookies and their pies are well known to all residents of South San Francisco. Nothing but the purest ingredients are used in this bakery and the laws of sanitation are followed to the letter. This bakery's reputation for these qualities is widespread in South San Francisco, and these are the direct cause for their remarkable and successful business. They have gained it through serving the people with baked goods that excel in taste and looks. These are the two essentials that go to make up the bakery products, in addition to how they are baked. Where is the location of this bakery and who is the proprietor? Have you tried one of their home-cooked meals? They are delicious. Counter service for those in a hurry. Tables for ladies. How many stools have they at their counter? Have you tried a dish of their home-cooked pork and beans? How much are they? They are serving wonderful tamales. Try one of their genuine Mexican tamales after the show.

(4) We are now presenting to you a dry goods and department store that is popular with all the people of South San Francisco. This firm has been selling reliable merchandise to the people of this town and community longer than any firm in this city. It is the kind of a store that holds trade, and its patrons appreciate the courtesy they receive there. In their stock will be found notions and general dry goods of every description, hosiery, fancy under garments and silk waists, and they have put in a wonderful line of hair ornaments and beads at a very reasonable price. A large stock of Christmas gifts has arrived and is now on display. Ladies' handkerchiefs in Christmas boxes, wonderful vanity cases and silk neckties in special boxes. A new line of bath robes has arrived for men, which makes a complete holiday stock. When referring to South San Francisco it is only natural to point to Schneider's Dry Goods Store as an example to the leading business establishments. What line of silk hosiery does this firm sell? Give location of the store. How long has this store been established? What is the firm's business motto?

(5) Mr. Cunningham. His operations are not confined to city property altogether, but he deals in nearby lands both "raw" and improved. The advantages offered on real estate in and around South San Francisco are indeed great, but it is not safe to play with it unless you make sure of the values before you buy. Mr. Cunningham is familiar with all real estate values here and his advice will be of great help to you and may mean the saving of hundreds of dollars. In addition to his extensive real estate operations, Mr. Cunningham also handles insurance and loans. If you own property in some other city and wish to exchange it for South San Francisco property, this man will also help you out. In fact, he works always for the interest of his patrons. Name an insurance company Mr. Cunningham represents in South San Francisco, and where his office is located. Homes are rented here, furnished and unfurnished; loans are also made. What is his phone number?

(6) The meat you eat should be selected with infinite care. Every bit of meat that leaves this market is fresh and the writer can vouch for its purity, tenderness and freshness. Delicious hams and bacon, good cuts of beef and chops are only a few of the things this shop has to offer. To write up the men and firms of material development in South San Francisco and not include this firm would be an injustice to both. The feature of the Columbia Meat Market is that they sell strictly on a cash basis and they have no bad accounts to make up with excessive prices. You get the benefit of this system, and the people of South San Francisco are beginning to realize the advantages of the cash system and they are all glad to pay cash. Suppose you drop in and place your next order for meats with this market, and see how you are served. Service to their patrons is a big thing with them and the proprietors pay particular attention to it. What are the initials of the proprietors and what is the phone number of the market? Also how long has the Columbia Meat Market been in the meat business and what is the degree of temperature of their refrigerator?

(7) In buying drugs you want the best, including purity and service, which are the two essentials to consider when selecting the firm from which to buy your needs. Impure drugs are worse than none at all, and poor service means aggravation and annoyance. Only the best drugs are ever handled at the Peninsula Drug Store. The proprietor is a registered pharmacist, and he endeavors to keep a stock that will meet all requirements. In addition to his large stock of pure drugs and sick room supplies, he is local distributor for the Victor Phonographs. These machines are so popular throughout the world that practically every other make of phonographs are designated by "Victrola." He has a complete assortment of different models of these in stock and it is his pleasure to demonstrate their usual qualities to you. Personally this druggist is a well-met man, and his large number of friends in South San Francisco is indicative of his popularity. Who is the proprietor of this pharmacy and what is the range in price of the Victor Phonograph? A watchmaker, optician and jewelry department is one of the large departments of this store. Buy your Christmas jewelry here.

(8) "Bread that is light, doughnuts that delight, pies just right." This is the song of a baker whose bread brings to mind mother's baking day. Their products are so good that people come for blocks to buy them over the counter just as fast as they are baked under the most stringent sanitary conditions. All through this feature we have attempted to show you the advantages offered herein as a shopping center. In patronizing this bakery you not only get the best bread, pies and cookies, but you get right prices as well. Cookies and coffee cake are made fresh here every day. Drop in and see their big daily assortment. They use strict sanitation in this bakery, and you will find their store at 326 Grand Avenue. What are the names of the proprietors? What line of bread do they feature? How much are their jelly rolls?

(9) It was God who said, "Let there be light," and here is a firm in South San Francisco which is most diligent in carrying out the divine injunction. The owner has been in business in this city for some time and has a store full of electrical supplies. The firm are out for all business in sight and are ready to figure with you on your electrical work at any time. They employ the best help in their line. Job work of all kinds is given their careful attention and they are always keeping in step with the times. This is one of the solid and growing firms of South San Francisco, and it has been growing in importance since its inception. The first time you are on Grand Avenue, drop in and look at this firm's stock over. Their stock is complete, and the proprietor is pleasant and you could not wish to meet a better acquaintance. What electric appliances do they carry? What makes of washing machines does this firm carry? What is the price of these washing machines? What products do they handle?

(10) The dealers in lumber hold a high position in the banking of any community, for it is of them the builders buy lumber for the man who builds a home. "Some pumpkins" is a good old home expression originated in the backwoods to emphasize something out of the ordinary, and is quite appropriate for the South City Lumber and Supply Company. The owners of this company are men of push and energy and, having been brought up in the lumber business and followed it for many years of their lives, they are in a position to make good their policy of "We Aim to Satisfy." Their policy of so dealing with customers that they do not have continually to be on their guard has proven highly profitable to them as well as to the people. They have "one price," for they are "too busy to dicker." They are counted among the hustlers, and it takes just this kind of men to make a real progressive city anywhere on earth. They can supply you with most anything in the building line, hardware, paints, oils, glass, sand and gravel. Books containing 200 photographs and 400 floor plans of the latest modern bungalows and houses have just arrived and are on exhibition free to you at the lumber office.

(11) The success of this progressive store has been built upon their guarantee that the prices must be always the lowest consistent with the quality and giving their customers the benefit of modern merchandising. This store carries a complete line of staple and fancy groceries, fruit and vegetables. The store is operated for South San Francisco people. If you like your chickens fresh, then these people will sell them to you alive. They always have several crates in their stock and will supply you with any number. The motto that well suits this store is: Good Goods, Humane Treatment, Fair Prices and Intelligent Service. All of these features enter into the general way the business is conducted. These two brothers attend to the business personally, and hence they carry out their own guarantee. They are acquainted with their trade personally and know the needs and desires of most every one of them. Their patrons are their friends. Who are these progressive merchants, and how long have they been established? What brand of flour do they carry? How many kinds of coffee do they carry? All kinds of poultry will be handled for Thanksgiving, both live and dressed. Come to this market and buy everything from the cranberries to the turkey. Delivery made up to five miles from South San Francisco. Phone your order early for prompt service.

(12) The "Who's Who" reporter has discovered a plumber that "brings his tools the first trip." Pleasing workmanship in plumbing and tin work seems to be this firm's specialty. To install your plumbing with careful regard to convenience and arrangement is his first thought when he undertakes any work. But it isn't his only thought. "Quality Plumbing Service" is his motto. He will install a Pacific water heater for you in a short time, as he carries these in stock, along with a complete plumbing fixture outfit. He is always careful to see that all joints and connections are perfectly tight and everything in good working order before calling a job done. This firm does not work on cheap shacks for its standards call for nothing less than the best material and workmanship. It is a known fact many get wealth by luck, position by pull, even good health by good fortune, but you must earn your friends, which this plumber has done by honesty and workmanship. How long established? Give the proprietor's name.

Wasted Energy.

"When I wuz a young man, mum, de neighbors where I lived called me a 'human dynamo,'" said the languid looking tramp.

"Well, they wouldn't call you that now," answered the housewife.

"No'm. But I wuz like a dynamo in one respect."

"How was that?"

"The energy I created never got me anywhere."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

A DANGER SPOT

According to a statement in a San Francisco newspaper a few days ago and credited to H. J. Brunner, chairman of the good roads committee, California Auto Association, twenty-seven persons have died on the state highway just south of Colma in railroad and auto accidents. The most dangerous part of this dangerous stretch of road is that at the turn just south of the viaduct and near the entrance to the Masonic Cemetery. At this spot the tracks of the interurban electric line are on a level with the road and only a few feet away. At this corner when a person is driving toward San Francisco on a rainy or foggy night, if the machine happens to reach the corner just as an electric car coming south does, the headlight on the electric car is most bewildering and even one familiar with the spot might well become confused and drive on the tracks to destruction.

This is a place that has levied toll of several lives, and while it is allowed to remain in its present condition is a constant menace to the public. The Enterprise would suggest that a curb, a wall, or a fence be constructed at this curve between the pavement and the car tracks. Painted white, such an obstruction would prevent a driver at night from making the curve wrong and getting on the tracks. The suggestion is made to the Highway Commission that such an obstruction be raised immediately. With the winter season now at hand there will be many wet and foggy nights when this corner is especially dangerous. The Enterprise prophesies that, if this spot is allowed to remain as it is for another winter, one or more deaths will result before another rainy season is passed.

BABYIZING AMERICA

A year-old baby may be large, and healthy, and vigorous, and strong, and if afforded proper protection it may grow into a mighty man of prowess. But remove its protector during its years of helplessness and it becomes an easy prey to any aggressor.

It is so with this country. Numerically, commercially and financially we are strong and healthy, with a progressive and successful future ahead of us.

But, like the baby of tender years, we are only safe so long as we have a protector capable of repelling aggressive forces which greed and avarice may bring against us.

That protector is the navy of the United States.

If congress persists in reducing the navy to a state of impotency we will be helpless against sudden foreign invasion. And that, apparently, is what a majority of our senators and congressmen are intent upon doing.

If financial retrenchment is necessary, we suggest that a horde of political barnacles be pried loose from the public payroll.

But keep the navy in a condition where it can afford us the necessary protection until an army can be formed.

If compelled to depend upon congressional oratory to defend us against foreign invasion we will be in a sad state indeed, regardless of the volume of noise produced.

AS THE EDITOR SEES IT

Many young girls, even of tender years, resort to paints and powders in order to enhance the charm with which nature has provided them.

In time they marry, and their husbands are chagrined to learn that much of their marvelous beauty was purchased by the box.

Think it over, girls. If nature provides you with intelligence and character you are possessed of something of far greater value in the eyes of a manly man than all artificial facial adornments combined.

o o o o

Criticism, if constructive, is good for our community and for our people. But criticism, with nothing better to offer, becomes pessimism, and is destructive. It breeds dissatisfaction over conditions that exist without offering any means of correcting them.

The next time you feel like criticising those in authority, be charitable enough and fair enough to withhold that criticism until you are in a position to suggest a suitable remedy.

You may not speak at all.

o o o o

If a man promises to pay you a certain bill on a certain date you expect him to keep his promise.

If he fails to pay his credit is impaired, your confidence in his good intentions is shaken, and your respect for him is in a measure destroyed.

It requires many years of correct living to build up a reputation of value. One false step may destroy it.

Look before you step, and THINK BEFORE YOU PROMISE.

o o o o

Yards of cloth dyed red, or white, or blue, or all of these colors, mean nothing. You may pass them a thousand times without giving them a second thought.

But work that cloth into an American flag and it becomes at once the symbol of the greatest heritage of mankind—liberty.

The man who loves his country will respect its flag. He will not treat it as yards of cloth.

The man who does not respect his flag can not, under any possible stretch of the imagination, be classed as a lover of his country.

We have many of the one, and too many of the other.

HOME HABITS

HAVE YOU SENT US A HOME HABITS? R.F. SAYS HIS WIFE ALWAYS HIDES THE MONEY 'ROUND THE HOUSE WHERE SHE OR NOBODY ELSE CAN FIND IT—YOU SEND US ONE—WE WILL PRINT IT.

Richard Lloyd Jones tells Us To Speed Up Safety.

EVER since the advent of the steam engine we have been speeding up, and while that speed has come with inestimable benefit, it has not come without its measure of attendant harm. When the legislature of New York was first asked to grant a franchise for eighteen miles of steam railroad, the right to build this first railroad was not granted without a bitter opposition which contended that it would be unsafe because the engine would scare so many horses that an unwarranted toll of death would result.

The railroad came and those who opposed it were right in their death toll predictions. The engines did scare the horses. There were runaways, and what is worse, there were wrecks on the rails and an ever-increasing list of accidents have been recorded as the iron ribbed mileage multiplied.

But for all this we would not erase the railroads from our maps; we would not go back to the days when even a king would cry "My kingdom for a horse."

The thrashing machine has cost many a thrasher an arm. But we would not go back to the days when we flayed grain on the floor.

Mill machinery and foundry furnaces take their human toll. But we cannot do without them. We fly sky-high and all too often we read of a fallen flyer. It is the price we pay to learn how with safety to use the swifter way.

The auto brings its price in limb and life. We pay it and speed away.

We have been impatiently seeking speed. With the same impatience we must seek safety. The cost of speed has reached such alarming proportions that the "Safety First" slogan was born.

Observe, we did not cry "Cut it out," nor did we even plead to "Slow down." We do not want to slacken, much less to stop. On the contrary, we want to speed up. That is progress. But we must speed up safety.

The National Safety Council reports that the compiled figures of preventable accidents in 1920 show a death toll of as many people as live in the State of Nevada. In other words, in one year we wiped out by accident one whole State. That means that it is time to STOP something. It is not speed we should stop. We must stop recklessness.

The man-eating thrashing machine has gone out of fashion. But the fool at the auto wheel is busy. Fatalities from reckless auto driving average thirty deaths a day. We have speed laws, but they are defiantly disobeyed and the violators when arrested are too often dismissed with a modified reprimand or a petty fine.

To endanger the life of another is not a light or laughing matter.

We must adjust ourselves to the auto as the horse did to the train. We make the train run on schedule, limit its speed on curves, slow down at the sign of caution and come to a full stop at the STOP signal. So must we make every auto driver do.

There is but one way to do it, and that is for every community to impose drastic penalty for every offender and for every community to promptly get rid of any officer that fails to arrest the offenders and every judge and magistrate that will not impose the full penalty of the crime.

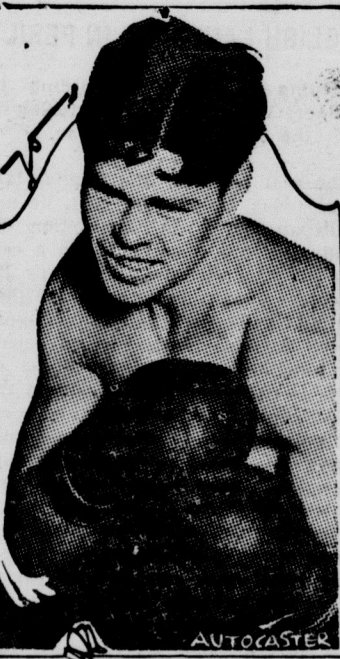

If it is a crime to take life, it is a crime to endanger life. Speed up safety. It is the duty of every town and county government to get indignantly busy on this all important job. We cannot spare our people in whole state-full lots.

COLMA RANCH EMPLOYEE FOUND DEAD IN FIELD

Jack Bell, 52, a laborer and well-known figure about Colma for many years, was found dead by Constable S. A. Landini Tuesday morning on the Olcese ranch near Colma. An inquest at the office of Mrs. W. C. Lasswell, deputy coroner, of Daly City, established the fact that Bell came to his death by exposure.

The body was found about one and a half miles from the San Pedro road by Constable Landini, after a vain search of the country had been made over several miles. The dead man had been missing for two days.

Bell, who was well known in Colma, had been employed on the ranch for about fifteen years.

FIRE STARTS IN SHACK

The fire department was called out Wednesday to a fire in a shack behind the Superior Steam Laundry. The blaze started from a coal oil stove. Shortly after the department put out the fire, a man who lives on the premises relighted the stove and it blew up, calling out the department a second time.

HOMEY PHILOSOPHY for 1922

THEY tell about Jake goin' into the barn to light his lantern so he could go courtin'. The farmer next door kidded him: "I never used a lantern when I went courtin'," said the farmer, and Jake said: "No, of course not; an' look what you got." There's lots of Jakes out these days with their lanterns, when they ought to be out with their X-rays. What's the use of looking at when you can look in. Lantern marriages mean pretty faces and heads with no adornment but the hair. The only advantage of courtin' with a lantern is that you can blow it out, an' then—ah, happiness doesn't come from object to eye, but faith an' lasting love come from soul to soul, an' you don't need any lantern to see that.

SAN BRUNO

WITH THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Gist of the proceedings of the meeting Wednesday evening.

The city recorder's report showed a collection of fines of $840.

A permit was granted Mrs. Mary Dixon of Huntington Park to put cement foundation under house.

Justices of the Peace Johnson and Farrell were granted free use of the council chambers for the purpose of holding court in order to accommodate the local public.

Pursuant to a complaint by a number of residents of Fourth Addition to the effect that a pack of dogs harbored by a fellow-citizen created a nuisance, the city attorney was instructed to frame an ordinance to deal with the situation.

The fire commission, at the behest of the volunteer fire company, recommended that the fire truck be removed from the garage to the fire house. The fire chief was instructed to attend to the matter.

The new zoning ordinance passed first reading, Wednesday evening, December 13th, is the time set to hear protests if there be any.

A new planning commission was announced, as follows: Mayor J. T. O'Connor, City Attorney Mason, City Engineer Kneese, Trustee Edwards, W. N. Holliday, George Clark, J. H. Galleher, Ed McGuire.

The question of issuing permits to several applicants to open up business along the state highway brought forth a lively discussion, which virtually ended in a draw. Final action in the cases pending will be taken in conjunction with the adoption of the new zoning ordinance at the next regular meeting of the board.

C. Beaton was appointed electrical inspector and Gus Magnuson building inspector.

Trustee Edwards and Grundy were appointed a committee of two to act in conjunction with a committee appointed by the Civic League to call on representatives of the Market Street R. R. in the matter of securing better protection at the various car crossings in San Bruno.

EXAMINATION TO BE HELD FOR POSTMASTER

An examination for the position of postmaster of this city will be held in the near future. Applicants are not required to report at any place, but should apply to the Civil Service Commission at Washington for application blanks. The announcements state that the applicants will be judged as to education, training, business experience and fitness.

SCIOIS OF COUNTY PLAN MARDI GRAS AND BAZAAR

December 14th, 15th, 16th and 18th have been selected by the Sciois of San Mateo county, members of San Mateo Pyramid, as the dates for the holding of a great country fair, Mardi Gras and bazaar at Masonic Temple in San Mateo. Committees have been appointed to carry on the work in preparation for the big event.

During the four days the ball room at the temple will be the scene of much festivity, as there will be dancing, vaudeville numbers and band concerts, besides the fair and bazaar.

Features of the affair that are arousing much interest are the awarding of a new Hupmobile auto to some lucky member of the fraternity or a friend and the holding of popularity contests for ladies and for babies.

During the week the entire county has blossomed out with posters and placards announcing the big four-day celebration, and everywhere interest is keen. The receipts will be used by the Sciois as a Christmas fund to spread yuletide comfort and cheer.

YEOMEN PLAY WHIST WITH TURKEYS AS PRIZES

The local homestead of Yeomen gave a very successful turkey whist party November 15th at Fraternal Hall, nineteen tables being filled with players. The successful winners of turkey orders were: First, Mrs. H. C. Koop; second, Louis Link; third, Mrs. D. Farrell; consolation prize, Mrs. Joe Bildhauer. Two ten-pound turkeys were raffled off, the holders of the lucky numbers being Nick Limburg and John Dancak. Following the distribution of prizes Lady Rowena and her assistants served refreshments in the dining room.

GIVEN SIXTY DAYS IN JAIL FOR HORSE STEALING

Mike O'Brien, charged with stealing a horse at San Bruno and held to answer for "horse stealing" by Justice of the Peace W. J. Smith of South San Francisco, appeared before Judge George H. Buck of the superior court at Redwood City Tuesday and entered a plea of guilty to petit larceny. The charge was reduced to the minor charge with the consent of District Attorney Franklin Swart. O'Brien waived time for sentence and Judge Buck sentenced him to serve sixty days in the county jail.

Some people gain riches in their dreams and proceed to spend them in their waking hours.

Treat your neighbor like a human being and he won't treat you like a dog.

poem by UNCLE JOHN

It seems to me, Thanks-givin' Day is good fer people every way.—I wouldn't want to doubt it. . . I'm certain that our blessed Lord forgives our sins an' keeps His word—we couldn't live without it! I've noticed that the thankful man, who does the very best he can to show the Lord he's grateful—is happier a thousand-fold, than one whose gratitude is cold, an' thrives by bein' hateful. I'd rather bless a crust of bread with benedictions sweetly said, than gloat o'er ingrate's splendor. . . I'd thank the Hand that allers feeds, an' suits the blessin' to our needs—an' keeps our conscience tender. . .

If I must dine on rabbit roast, becase I can't dig up the cost of gobbler, stuffed with dressin'—I'll down my hare-hop with a smile—in firm belief that, after while, we'll reap a richer blessin'. . . I ain't ashamed to kiss the rod that chastens by the hand of God, yet spares my daily livin'. . . and mebbe that is why I'm here, to celebrate another year—in praises and Thanksgivin'!

TUBERCULOSIS SEAL SALE STARTS THANKSGIVING DAY

On the 30th of November the annual Christmas seal sale will start. The quota for California is $200,000, which will be used by the fifty-two local associations in the state for the support of their local work. The state and counties through the state subsidy are maintaining splendid hospitals, but no funds are given for preventive or educational work in tuberculosis. The funds secured through the seal sales each year are used for summer camps for underweight children, nutrition work, school lunches, dental work, help for adult patients, occupational therapy, and a preventorium for children infected with tuberculosis. Many nurses and clinics are also supported from the seal sale proceeds.

Since 1914, when the first organized seal sale was held, the death rate from tuberculosis has dropped from 139 per 100,000 to 151 per 100,000 in 1921.

The seal sale starts Thanksgiving and lasts until Christmas; every penny raised is for California and goes to help some child or adult fight tuberculosis.

AGE MATTER OF COMPARISON

Actual Passing of the Years Really Has Little to Do With Coming of Deceitful.

John R. Voorhis, president of the board of commissioners of New York city, recently celebrated his ninety-third birthday by doing his usual day's work. He arose at 4:30, his usual time, and after his usual hearty breakfast walked as usual to his office more than a mile away.

Being ninety-three doesn't mean anything unusual to this man whose span of life has been two-thirds as long as that of the American republic.

Age is, after all, remarks Thrift, greatly a matter of comparison. A few days before Mr. Voorhis' birthday he said that, while walking briskly to his office one morning, he noticed a seventy-five-year-old man feebly hobbling along the street, tottering with every step and seeming to have a terrible time to navigate even at the slowest pace.

"It was a great pity," commented Mr. Voorhis, on this sad spectacle, "to see such a young man so nearly disabled by old age."

Yes, it's largely a matter of comparison. At sixteen, forty is old age; at ninety-three, seventy-five is youth. The actual years count for naught. More and more we find this out.

CALLED ON FOR MUCH WORK

Amount of Labor Performed by the Human Heart Is Almost Beyond Power of Description.

The heart of one man in a lifetime pumps as much blood through the body as the blood weight of the 10,000,000 men killed during the war, according to Dr. J. Plesch, a professor in the Berlin Medical school, an authority on blood circulation and the first man to perfect a system for measuring the blood content of the human body.

"The heart of a man weighing 133 pounds and living sixty years," he said, "pumps during the course of his life 161,500,000 quarts of blood. The World war cost 10,000,000 lives. Estimating the average weight of a man's body at 133 pounds and the weight of the blood content at 5 per cent of the total, some 21,400,000 quarts of blood were shed during the war."

Professor Plesch used this illustration to show how much more powerful is this marvel of nature than the destruction which mankind with the most ingenious instruments of warfare was able to inflict upon itself in five years of desperate effort.

Ask Me Again.

A few days ago a friend called me up to ask how to make a mint julep, writes Russell Seeds, in the Indianapolis Star. On being assured that he was not joking, but really had the makings, I scented possibilities and milled in with enthusiasm. I told him how to crush the ice fine and pour it into the tall glass, then put in a couple of sprigs of smashed mint and the granulated sugar and add a stiff thimble of genuine bourbon and shake it up, and then decorate the top with a bouquet of fresh mint and watch until the frost had formed on the glass.

"Thank you so much! Come down some time and we'll have one together."

But do you think I let him get away? On your life, no! They have slipped me that "some time" stuff for the last time. I have seen too many enchanting visions of house parties and week ends fade and die on the waiting list. I thanked him profusely and told him I'd be there in fifteen minutes. And I was!

Jap or Chinese.

The eldest son of the mayor of Jeffersonville, who is about nine years old, is a shrewd observer and no doubt marks what his elders say. He can, however, find his own way of expressing himself. He was in a newspaper office a few days ago when an eastern "drummer" came in, showed his wares, and said he would call again. A discussion ensued in the office whether the visitor was a Chinese or Japanese, when Hiram spoke up: "He said he would come back. If he does, he is a Chinese, but if he doesn't come back you can know he is a Japanese." Evidently the Chinese have an enviable reputation, in Hiram's judgment, for "truth and veracity."—Indianapolis News.

The Gambler's Paradise.

It looks as if half the population of New South Wales and Queensland will be getting its living presently by gambling in one way or another with the other half. Dr. Arthur, M.L.A., of the former state, remarked recently that "in spite of the financial depression and unprecedented unemployment, though all productive industry languished last year—factories closed, mines ceased working and land-settlement nearly came to a halt—the returns from the tax on admission to racetracks, from the totalizer and from bookmakers' tickets have all increased."—Sydney Bulletin.

Russian Atrocities.

The checks, according to Bolshevik official figures, executed 1,768,118 persons before being renamed the supreme political administration last February. The total includes 6,775 professors and teachers; 4,800 doctors; 355,250 other intellectuals; 1,243 priests; 54,650 officers; 260,000 soldiers; 59,000 policemen; 12,950 landowners; 192,350 workmen; 815,100 peasants. During the civil war the Bolsheviks had more killed than

MEXICO'S POTENTIAL WEALTH

Country's Resources, Known to Be Great, Are to Be Subject of Thorough Investigation.

In the state of Coahuila, Mexico, a wild plant is found growing, the leaves of which have long been used in boilers of engines to prevent the foaming of the water. Some years ago the manufacture of a boiler-compound of these leaves was carried on successfully, but the turbulent times caused the industry to be abandoned. It has been proposed that Mexico, instead of shipping its hides to the United States to be tanned and manufactured into leather, shall utilize the hides of its cattle and other animals at home. At present the leather industry is mostly carried on by crude processes of tanning and manufacturing, notwithstanding the fact that there exists in the country an inexhaustible supply of wild vegetation from which tannic acid for the manufacture of leather may be obtained at low cost.

It is to obtain some definite idea of the resources of Mexico in the matter of wild plants and shrubs and the products of forest trees, that the government now has under consideration plans for a careful and thorough survey of these native products of the soil. In connection with this investigation a laboratory will be installed where chemical analysis of specimens of plant life may be made with the view of discovering whether or not they may be made of commercial value.

CITY OF HOMER AND CROESUS

Unfortunate Smyrna Credited With Being the Birthplace of Two Great Men of History.

Smyrna, recently captured by the Turks, is both old and famous. It is the purported birthplace of Croesus and claims to be the birthplace of Homer. It was a city long before the days of Alexander the Great, who rebuilt it where it now stands, as he saw its strategic position as an extreme western port for eastern markets. In 23 A. D. Rome selected Smyrna from among many rivals for site of the great temple to be dedicated to the emperor.

This ancient city figures prominently in connection with early church history, observes the Detroit News. It is but 50 miles from Ephesus, where the ruins of that city with its famous temple are still to be seen. Smyrna itself is supposed to have been for some time the home of the apostle St. John, whose disciple, Polycarp, afterward head of the Smyrna church, was burned at the stake about 155 A. D. His tomb is still the outstanding sight of the city and is on the crest of the hill near the place of his martyrdom. Almost within sight of Polycarp's tomb, to the south, lies the Isle of Patmos, to which St. John was banished, and where the Book of Revelation is supposed to have been written.

Swedish Peasants Adopt Motors.

All but one participant in a recent farmers' festival at Kalmar, Sweden, attended the event in motor cars. "In that particular section of Sweden," says a consular report to the United States Department of Commerce, "ox carts not long ago were the only means of communication. Peasants and small village functionaries, who formerly looked upon the auto with marked disfavor, have changed their attitude and view it as a sign of their country's prosperity, and are now doing their part in keeping the roads in some kind of order." Three thousand two hundred and thirty passenger cars and 798 motor trucks were brought to Sweden from foreign countries during the first six months of 1922, as compared with 2,634 cars and 548 trucks for the corresponding six months of 1921.

Summoned From the Vasty Deep.

Ghosts have made an appearance in the "agony column" of a newspaper. One morning an advertiser announced that he would be grateful for information of any old house reasonably close to Capetown, where a genuine specter, complete with clanking chains, or head in arm, may be clearly seen by the naked eye. Later came another notice summoning "all specters of standing" to a meeting "to protest against the manner in which they are being commercially exploited." This from the "King of Specterland." His majesty stated that due notice will be given of "time and place," but the meeting has not yet been reported.—Natal Advertiser.

Harvester for Sugar Beets.

Harvesting sugar beets has been facilitated by the invention of an Illinois man, and consists of a machine that tops, digs and boxes the product, according to the October Popular Mechanics Magazine. In operation, two shoes slide along the surface of the ground and carry a cutter which cuts the beet top at the required height, throwing the severed portion to one side. Following the topper, comes a digger, or uprooter, which removes the beet from the ground and carries it to the rear, where it is deposited in a box or basket.

Real Carefulness.

A St. Louis girl who went to Meramec highlands for a swim was seen to stand on the end of the diving board and assume the correct position for a dive when she noticed that she had forgotten to remove her wrist watch. She stepped back, took off the time-piece, placed it in the pocket of her bathing suit and plunged into the water.

SEEMED TO BE SUPERNATURAL

First Sight of Airplanes Caused Consternation Among the Natives of Philippine Islands.

When, in order to carry out a survey, airmen visited Joho, Sulu archipelago, Philippine Islands, it was the first time the natives had seen an airplane, and they were greatly terrified, according to a story in the Westminster Gazette.

Some of them were convinced that the machines were sent as emissaries from Allah, and others believed the occupants of the craft themselves—the pilots and the observers—were both all seeing and all powerful.

It was impossible to convince them otherwise, and the airplanes were viewed with dread and as supernatural things. Some of the natives even went so far as to declare the planes were dragons, flown out of the South seas, and destined to wreck vengeance on all bad Moros, according to an old Arabic legend.

There were thousands of Moros in the wilds of Mindanao who had never set eyes on a white man, and to whom the pilots, able to soar aloft like the birds, were altogether outside the sphere of ordinary mortals. The sightmen were regarded as objects of great wonderment and to be held in the greatest awe.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE IN PERIL?

"Creeping Paralysis," According to Henry Van Dyke, Is Threatening the Speech of the Nation.

The real perils of the English language today, in my judgment, lie not in expansion or in contraction of vocabulary but much more in a certain nifty carelessness or sloppy indifference; a failure to recognize that thought is desirable not only before speech but also in speech; an apparent numbness to the finer sense of words, writes Henry van Dyke in the Yale Review. The effects of this creeping paralysis may be observed constantly in streets and shops and ballrooms, and frequently in books and newspapers. For example, a distinguished historian writes that he proposes to "assess" a certain character when he has no intention of taxing it, but simply means to estimate its worth. A popular novelist makes his hero leave a room "precipitously," yet without throwing him down the stairs or letting him leap from a window. An ardent advertiser proclaims the "slogan" of his ready-made clothing, although his purposes are all pacific. Even a philosopher, a platonist, writes that certain plays "intrigue" him, when evidently he means not that they perplex him but merely that they interest him.

"Scotland Yard."

Scotland Yard is the headquarters of the Metropolitan police of London and is situated within a stone's throw of the houses of parliament in southwestern London. Formerly the department was housed in a group of buildings surrounding a courtyard near Charing Cross. It derived its name, Scotland Yard, from a palace assigned from the time of Edgar to Henry III, as the residence of the Scottish kings when they visited in London. The present head is Sir Edward Henry, commissioner. The chief is appointed by the crown upon recommendation of the home secretary. The yearly cost of Scotland Yard, according to the latest published statistics, is $15,000,000. Sir Henry is the originator of the system of fingerprint as identification, which is rapidly superseding the Bertillon system in all countries.

Powder to Lay Road Dust.

Calcium chloride, a chemical powder, is being used to lay the dust on the stretches of the Prince of Wales highway between Brockville and Ottawa. The experiment is being carried out by the department of highways with a view of determining the relative values of the chemical and of oil for this purpose, and two stretches of roadway, at Spencerville and Manotick respectively, are being treated. The chemical absorbs and retains moisture and forms a coating over the surface of the road. Its cheapness as opposed to an oil treatment is said to be considerable and as both treatments have to be repeated frequently the department hopes to effect a material saving.

Wonderful Surgery.

Remarkable surgery was performed on the third mate of the liner Ruth Alexander just before she arrived in Seattle, Wash. The mate became ill when the ship was 30 hours from Seattle. Two physicians diagnosed the illness as acute appendicitis. A cabin door was used for an operating table, and the doctors performed the operation with sewing scissors, two pairs of forceps and a darning needle. The incision was sewed up with embroidery silk and cat gut. The operation required only 14 minutes. The mate was taken to a Seattle hospital when the ship docked there, and is recovering.

Island Rich in Verdure.

St. Lucia, the largest of the Windward Islands, is twenty-four miles long, and at its widest is twelve miles in breadth. It has an area of 233 square miles. The island is mountainous, and its highest point is 3,145 feet above sea level, while the land is mostly covered with trees and the rapidly growing vegetation of the tropics. Castries, the capital, has a fine port. In 1921 the number of in-

SIGNS BRING BUSINESS

THE FIRST ACT of every person who wants an article or service is to look for the sign of the place where it is for sale. The busiest streets in every city are those that are well lighted. Electric advertisements are not only signs of a busy street—they are the cause.

Habit will bring people back to your place of business after your contact with them is established and they have full confidence in the products you sell or the service you render. Getting them in the first time is the problem. You must make your establishment spot itself on a busy street so that the impression produced is that yours is the only one of its kind on the street.

Electric signs solve the problem of fixing your store and its location in the minds of the public. Their letters stick out by day and shine by night. They can be seen two or three blocks away.

Telephone or write for a P G and E representative to call on you and help you determine the type of sign most suited to your selling needs and location.

Always important in European life, the Danube has become even more so since the World war has added to the countries for which its waters furnish a highway. And once more its importance is enhanced by the probability that the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus will become permanently internationalized.

From the Black forest to the Black sea, over a course 1,800 miles in length, the Danube has long been a chain upon which romance and history have vied with each other to hang interesting traditions and occurrences. Geography, too, has done its share, and although the Volga exceeds its rival in length, and although the Rhine has had better press agents, the Danube is large enough and beautiful enough to rank in interest with the great rivers of the world.

There was a time when the Danube was symbolized by an old-fashioned waltz. But since the World war began nothing but a hesitation typifies the place the river has held in the economic life of the countries through which it runs. It has been less the highway and more the barrier than in prewar days. Not yet does it serve to bind the various nations through which it passes into a friendly and co-operating group. It has been officially open to ships of all nations since the forming of the Danube commission in 1856 and the various states interested long co-operated to improve the navigation facilities, especially in the lower reaches of the river; but political conditions have done much to weaken the economic link which once bound Linz and Vienna to the great grain shipping center of Braila, to which ocean-going vessels can steam, and to the Black sea ports themselves.

Charming villages, beautiful meadows, picturesque hills crowned with ruined castles, princely palaces, ecclesiastical piles and two of the world's most fascinating capitals are strung along the lengthy and winding river. Thriving industries raise their smokestacks beside the stream whose legendary color is blue but whose true tint varies from a dirty green to a muddy yellow. More tragic than the encroachment of factory smoke has been in late years the sad sight of countless chimneys from which the life-breath of industry seemed to have expired forever.

Through Wonderful Region.

Near its source at Donaueschingen the river passes between the castle which gave its name to the late ruling family in Germany and a war monument to the Hohenzollern men who fell in the Franco-Prussian war. Farther down it passes through the once-proud capital of Austria-Hungary, where the fine government buildings stand to the despairing inhabitants as a mocking reminder of better days, and beside the Prater, once a deer park and later a pleasure garden noted for its Viennese gayety.

Still farther along its course, just after entering Czechoslovakia, at its junction with the March, there is a towering cliff spired with a monument erected to celebrate one thousand years of Hungarian nationality. This is Czechoslovakia territory now, and there two years ago the Stars and Stripes were draped on the occasion of the visit of a large group of Czech-Americans to the newly freed land of their fathers.

Bratislava, now Czechoslovakia's river port, was once the city in whose dignified cathedral the Hungarian kings were crowned. The boat station there revealed, a short time ago, the changes which history has wrought. Over the center of the landing the present name was given, but to the left one could see most of the letters of the German name "Pressburg" and to the right there was the Hungarian name "Poszony."

Vienna, brooding in its lovely parks, which lack the care that was once lavished on them, and contemplating with cynicism the motto "Si Vis Pacem, Para Bellum," whose golden letters decorate the walls of the ministry of war, is a sad sight. But Budapest seems to have been less troubled by the passage of war.

Food is the main reason. Hungary, reduced as it is, still contains some of the best land in Europe. Vienna, its industry stopped, can do little to earn the food it needs. During the summer of 1920 all traffic between the two capitals was stopped by mutual boycotts, and although steamers piled the Danube from Linz to Budapest, no through passengers or freight were received.

To the casual observer Budapest is the same proud city as of old. The fine parliament building and the imposing palace on the heights across the river, where Admiral Horthy now rules, seem as attractive as before the war. The upper river is still crowded with bathers and with canoes and rowboats in which charming women and stalwart men do their best to attain a spacious coat of tan. Along Franz Josef quay the promenade adds a lively touch of color to the drab scenes to which the beautiful blue Danube has become accustomed.

At Belgrade and Below.

From Zemun, once the last Hungarian port on the Danube, a short trip between low banks brings one to Belgrade, the capital of the new kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes, where the steamer rounds the base of the ancient fortress which dates back to the time of the Celts, the Romans and the Franks, and comes to its dock a little way up the Save, which here enters the Danube from the south.

About four hours' sail below Belgrade the wide plains give way to hilly country where the Transylvanian Alps curve down toward the jumble of mountains which extends to Montenegro and Greece. It is in this region that the main obstructions of the river occur. But the most famous obstructions and the finest scenery come at the Kazan defile and the "Iron Gates," where the river has collected a gruesome toll.

At Rustchuk the railway traveler from Rumania ferries across a broad and sluggish stream to continue his journey to Sofia and Constantinople; and here the banks of the Danube are lined with huge barges. Below Siliistra the river curves to the north and passes through Rumanian territory throughout the rest of its length. At Cerna Voda it is crossed by one of the longest railway bridges in the world, the last of the many bridges which cross the stream, some of which are now destroyed.

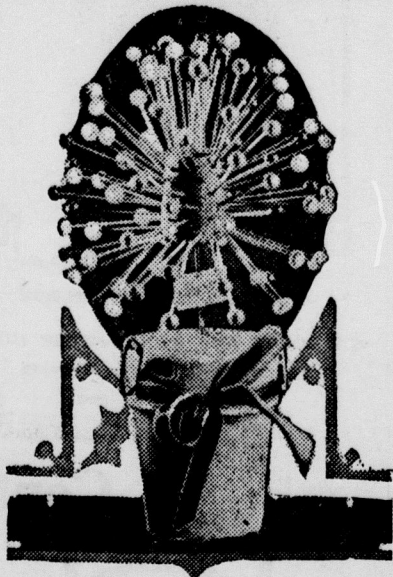

This is one of the most remarkable examples of its kind of engineering and was built at a cost of $7,000,000. It has 68 spans, one of which, over the main stream, is a cantilever more than 600 feet long. The bridge has a height of 120 feet above low water, and the piers go down to bed rock 100 feet below the water surface, making them nearly one-half as high as the Washington monument.

Braila and the Delta.

Braila, 125 miles from the three main mouths of the Danube, is a port for the grain and produce of a rich agricultural region. In prewar days its wharves teemed with life and its huge grain elevators bulged with the rich products of Wallachia and Dobrudja, which has seen great development since the Russians gave it to Rumania instead of the more valuable and fertile tracts of Bessarabia. From Galatz to the sea the Danube was long under the control of an international commission whose duty it was to tame the river and the many nationalities to whom the river is highway or barrier according to the tides of human passion and national life.

Sixty miles from the sea begins the delta of the Danube. The Killia, the most northern of the branches into which the river divides, carries more than two-thirds of the volume of its water to the sea, but is not deep enough for the more important traffic, which moves by the more direct branch through the middle of the delta to Sullina. Here a natural channel of seven to eleven feet has been increased to twenty, and long dikes stretch out to sea and carry off the silt. Although it discharges less than 7 per cent of the Danube's waters, the Sullina channel carries a shipping which multiplied tenfold between 1891 and 1902. It was steadily increasing with a promise of future prosperity when the World war interfered.

Gay Little Pin Trees

We can help start the new year right by giving Christmas gifts of little pin trees to our women and girl friends. Two corks and a florist's pin, sharpened at both ends, make the foundation for the pin tree illustrated. The large cork—of wood—is painted green and the smaller cork is gilded. They are joined by the long pin, and into the gilded cork many pins, with colored heads, are thrust, to form a tree. A band of baby ribbon, tied about the larger cork, holds small safety pins.

Things That Men Like

Here is a decorative bag, of printed cotton chaille 25 inches long and 17 inches wide. A scalloped edge turns up over a straight edge at the bottom and each scallop has a buttonhole, fastening over a glass button. The bag is supported by a coat hanger, faced at the top and bottom with plain chaille and French knots made of heavy zephyr decorate it. Hung in the closet it makes a handy receptacle for soiled collars and handkerchiefs, which are thrust in at the top and fall out at the bottom when the bag is unbuttoned. Men like such conveniences.

Mrs. Hall Poses

This is the first posed picture of Mrs. Frances Hall, wife of the New Brunswick, N. J., rector, who was found murdered with his pretty choir singer, Eleanor Mills.

Christmas Candles

This year's candle shades made of gay silks or of crepe paper are shown in such variety that every one may be pleased. Sparkling silver tinsel strays over some of them, adding a holiday glitter to the pretty colors through which the light gleams. A shade decorated in this way is shown at the right of the two pictured. At the left a foundation of plain paper is covered with ruffles of crepe paper in two alternating colors, in this case white and green, and has daisies made of paper set about it.

Most people are too busy planning pleasures for the future to have much fun in the present.

Ever Welcome Bags

Christmas time is the springtime of bright cretonnes when they blossom out into all sorts of ingenious and beautiful gifts. The picture shows a work or shopping bag folded and unfolded. It is merely a capacious oblong bag of cretonne, with small envelope, bound with braid, sewed to one side, and, by means of snap fasteners, it can be folded and converted into a pretty shopping bag.

application of the Rev. James P. Moran for permission to make some necessary repairs to All Souls' Church building. The application of J. W. Virgin for permission to cut two eucalyptus trees at the corner of Grand and Magnolia avenues was referred to the street committee.

An application was received from W. W. Brawn for the position of building inspector, and was placed on file until such time as an appointment for this position is made.

The application of Lawrence Pera for a soft drink license to apply to 112 Grand avenue was denied, on recommendation of the city marshal.

B. E. McNellis asked that street lights be installed at Green and Chapman avenues and Randolph and Braden avenues. At the same time the fact that street lights at Randolph avenue and San Bruno road, California and San Bruno and Butler and San Bruno are out was brought up, and the city clerk was instructed to write to the P. G. and E. Company with reference to all these lights.

The matter of alterations to a house at 24 Juniper avenue, which neighbors objected to and which was discussed at the trustees' meeting last Monday evening, came up again, and the board members decided to look the property over themselves, one feature of the controversy being that the owner of the building had taken out a building permit calling for alterations to cost $100, but was doing work that would run into a cost of several times that amount.

After listening to reports of the city nurse and city treasurer and auditing bills against the city the board adjourned.

BEAUTIFUL CAFE TO BE BUILT NEAR TANFORAN

That the building to be constructed across the state highway from the front entrance of Tanforan race course is to be an inn or cafe of the highest class and will cost between $100,000 and $150,000, was announced Wednesday by Harry J. Perrin, agent for the corporation that is back of the project. The place will be called the Green Mill Gardens and will be similar to the Green Mill, which was a famous cafe on the Los Angeles to Venice boulevard near Culver City until its destruction by fire recently.

Mr. Perrin stated that no expense was to be spared to make the local Green Mill Gardens one of the beauty spots on the peninsula. It is proposed to have the place built and in operation by the opening day's races at the track next spring.

The ten-acre tract is to be laid out in elaborate gardens. The building will have a revolving windmill upon it, the arms of the mill carrying some 1500 green electric lights. A plan to have an arched footway from the race course gates over the highway to the mill is being considered.

William Paine of Los Angeles is president of the corporation that will build and operate the mill, Mr. Paine planning to act as manager of the place.

LOCAL BALL PLAYERS GIVEN FINE WRITE-UP

Two local baseball players, "Wes" Foraker and Art Steele, are making a hit in the Oakland Midwinter League this year. They are playing for the Kessler Army Store team, and according to the Oakland Tribune the boys are playing better ball across the bay than they did at home. The following appeared in the Tribune:

"The Kessler Army Store team of the Class B League threw a big surprise yesterday when they battled to a 3 to 3 tie after fifteen innings of fast baseball. Levitt for the Kesslers twirled great ball, allowing only five hits and striking out twelve. Kessler's has two sweet ball players in Steele and Foraker. The way these two boys get the ball out of the dirt is remarkable, and they are hitting the apple to all corners of the lot. If stickwork counts anything in baseball, these boys are going to win plenty of games before the curtain is brought down.

"Class A teams would be doing well if they could make a deal for these boys, as either of them belong with faster company."

SUCCESSFUL FIGHT COSTS H. W. LAMPKIN $202.63

Sheriff-elect H. W. Lampkin filed his statement of expenditures in the campaign, as required by law, with County Recorder T. C. Rice on Friday. The statement shows that the sum of $202.63 was expended in securing his election, being divided between printing and advertising bills.

D. P. Flynn, county assessor, elected without opposition, also filed his statement, showing that the expenditures in his campaign were "none."

S. F. BOARD TURNS DOWN HIGHWAY AND BRIDGE

and his associates of New York have announced their intention of building the Coyote Point bridge with their own finances, the San Francisco supervisors declared against building another bridge close by at the public expense.

Only Supervisors Richard J. Welch and J. Emmet Hayden, both of whom are directors of the joint highway district, voted for the acceptance of their report, the vote being 2 to 16. Welch during the debate vigorously defended the ambitious plan for a needed highway and a bridge connecting with it. He declared the voters of the city had spoken in favor of a second highway, and that San Francisco's only opening for development is to the south. The action of the supervisors, he reminded them, returned the highway project to its initial stage as when it was launched months ago.

Supervisor Ralph McLeran led the opposition to the joint highway report. He said the project would involve an expense of $6,600,000 to San Francisco, as against $400,000 for San Mateo county, and that the board should not consider saddling such a heavy burden on the community. He brought up the Coyote bridge project as another reason why the joint highway board plan should not be accepted.

All the supervisors, after voting to "indefinitely postpone" the report, adopted a resolution giving assurance to the supervisors of San Mateo county that San Francisco still guarantees the $225,000 which was appropriated at the inception of the campaign for surveys and other preliminary work.

GRADING ON CIVIC CENTER STARTED MONDAY

The work of grading the civic center started Monday of this week, when a big steam shovel began gnawing away at the hill just back of the library. The work is being done by the San Francisco Motor Drayage Company, and the soil removed from the hill will be dumped on the west side of San Bruno road just south of this city to build a levee to protect this road from winter storm water. The company that is doing the work has a contract from the county to build the levee and from this city to grade off the civic center hill.

The joy-ride is so called because it so often ends in a gloom ride with friends of the victim walking slow behind.
